Cookies and similar technologies

We at Duroc AB use cookies and similar technologies (commonly called "cookies") on our site and in our services to enhance your experience with us. We use cookies to simplify and customize our services, such as login. Below we explain how we use cookies and what choices you can apply to our cookies.

What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files with information stored in the user's computer or other device used for visits to our site. These are sent from our or our partners' web servers and stored on your device. Cookies are used to make websites work more efficiently, for example, by simplifying login, but also for providing some information to the site owner about how it is used.

Duroc ABs definitions of different types of cookies:

- Session cookies, ie. temporary cookies that are deleted when you close your browser or app. We use session cookies to determine which language you selected as a user.
- Durable cookies, ie. cookies that remain on your computer until you remove them or they expire. How long a lasting cookie is stored depends on the specific cookie's lifetime and on your browser settings. Permanent cookies are used, inter alia, to simplify your login.
- First-party-cookies are cookies put by us on the site you visit.
- Third-party cookies are cookies belonging to a website other than the one you visit. Such cookies may be used by third parties to view your web history, such as statistics

Why do we use cookies?

- Analog Cookies that provide comprehensive analytical information regarding your use of our services. Our services would not work well without these cookies.
- Function cookies that allow us to save settings such as language selection or whether we will fulfill your information or not. Without these types of cookies, we would not be able to tailor our services according to your wishes. These cookies are important, as it is essential for our services that your experience with us should be as simple as possible.
- Security cookies that make our services and your data safe and secure by helping us detect fraud and protect your data. Since this is an essential part of our services, these cookies are necessary.
